D. A. GORDON has been appointed Traveling Agent for the HERALD. He will start to-morrow morning on a canvassing tour, and will be in Anaheim on Friday and Saturday, and its vicinity next week. He will receive and receipt for subscription to the DAILY and WEEKLY HERALD.

What Shall We Do with Them?

On her two last trips down the coast the steamer Orizaba brought to this city one hundred passengers at each trip. The last trip of the Mohongo brought eighty-six. The heavy influx of Fall and Winter travel has hardly begun yet, and we think that one hundred passengers for Los Angeles at each trip of the steamers down the coast is a reasonably low estimate for the season. The boats make five trips per month, and will bring us five hundred people per month, who are for the most part strangers who have been attracted to our shores by the fame which our section has justly acquired throughout the country, as a Winter resort.

Probably ten per cent. of the whole are our own citizens, and as many more are destined to Arizona, or to San Bernardino and other inland towns. This number is much more than made good by the arrivals by the two daily lines of stages from up the coast, so that at least 500 strangers each month during the next four will visit Southern California, with Los Angeles City as their objective point. How best to provide for these 2,000 strangers—to supply hotel accommodations and boarding houses for such as do not desire to settle down house-keeping, and to furnish houses for such as do—is a problem which ought to engage the earnest attention of even so dignified a body as our Chamber of Commerce. That body should appoint from its own members a Committee on Immigration, and that committee should designate and hire a suitable person to visit the landing on steamer days, interview the new-comers on the cars and extend to them such friendly aid and suggestions, as courtesy prompts, and as a thorough acquaintance with the city and its hotels, boarding houses, real estate agents, hack lines, etc., would enable him to give them.

This is all necessary, but it is a very small part of what ought to be done. The Immigration Committee, which we would have the Chamber of Commerce appoint, should be active in providing for the accommodation of these people after their arrival. They must be housed and fed. The Committee should have sufficient influence with our better classes, or the classes who have the better houses and spare room, to consent to second the efforts of the committee by taking temporary lodgers. In the absence of adequate hotel and boarding house accommodations some such course must be adopted, or we shall else drive from our midst many persons who might become valuable citizens did they remain. We offer these remarks by way of suggestion, and shall be glad to hear of any practical move, either in the way we have suggested, or any other.

Story of Stevenson's Regiment.

In the month of July, 1846 a youth named John W. Moore, then only 16 years of age, enlisted in Co. D of Stevenson's California Expedition, or as designated by the War Department, "First Regiment of New York Volunteers." In the year 1849 the father of this young man made applications to the Secretary of War for information regarding his absent son, and received the reply that he was discharged from the service with his Company in October, 1848, at Monterey, California; and although the father (Peter Moore New Brunswick, N. J.) kept up the search for information for over twenty years, to none of his letters to former members of that Regiment could he obtain a reply. He was unable to obtain the address of any of the former members of Company D, and in 1870 relinquished the search.

In the month of September of the present year he learned through a former member of Company H, also residing at New Brunswick, N. J. that Francis D. Clark of New York City was a former member of the same Company with his long lost son, and that as Mr. Clark had been employed during the past four years in compiling a "Roll of the Survivors" of the old regiment, through that gentleman he might learn something as to his son's fate. The aged father proceeded to New York for the purpose of learning of Mr. C. what information he could, and from him learned that his son, always esteemed by his comrades as an honest and brave lad, had been killed by the Indians in the Mariposa Mines in 1850. He also learned from Mr. C. that owing to the fact that his son remained in the mountains from the Fall of 1849 up to the period of his death, there was in all probability still due by the Government the 160 acres of land as also Extra Pay and Mileage to which the son was entitled. An application to the Interior Department as also to the Treasury Department, through Mr. Clark's efforts in behalf of the aged father, has elicited the response, that upon a proper application, made by the father of the deceased, being forwarded to the respective departments, he will receive the dues long remaining unpaid.

Thus after a long search has the father been enabled to learn the fate of his son besides receiving that, in his declining years, which may serve to smooth his downward course to the grave.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A Washington special says Government proposes discharging a large number of employees engaged in the Navy Yards and other public works. It is denied by Lacy of the Navy, who is represented to have stated his policy to be, as far as consistent with public interest, to keep all is needed for such labor. There may be, he says, complaints that he is using appropriations for his department rapidly, but he believes it the duty of Government in such a crisis as the present, to give all aid it can to the material interests of the country. The disposition of the employees in the east, so far as their feeling and purposes can be judged by letters received here, is to reduce the number of hours' work, and not discharge or furlough their employees. At least a dozen prominent firms in New York city alone have made known their intention to prevent the discharging of men and women employed by them. They would rather reduce the work of each to a few hours per week during the winter months, or while hard times continue.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The investigation into the affairs of the Central Bank by a committee from the Clearing House Association, shows that the capital, $3,000,000, is impaired to the extent of $72,000. The deposits are amply insured.

A special from Petersburg, Va., says that while about 300 colored men were marching in procession last night, they threw stones at houses, smashed windows and injured citizens. The excitement became so great, owing to these acts of violence, that a white and colored military company were called out, and kept under guard all night. Governor Walker approved of the prompt action on the part of the military and citizens.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Very little business is being done down town today on account of the election, it being a legal holiday. Large establishments opened in the morning, but were all closed at noon, and all interested are exerting themselves to obtain a full vote. The election of the Tammany county ticket is conceded, with doubts of Donahue for the Supreme Court. The contest is exciting only for the Assembly and Senate.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—The Commercial's Knoxville, Tenn., special says that the strike of the engineers and firemen in East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia threatens to assume a dangerous character. Some employees yesterday prevented the freight train from leaving, by uncoupling the cars. The night passenger and all freight trains have been discontinued. Col. Baxter, attorney of the road, is now addressing the employees, explaining to them the trouble they are subjecting themselves to, and advising non-interference with the operations of the road.

Kellogg, saying that the military of Grant Parish are aiding the civil authorities to arrest the perpetrators of the Colfax massacre, but that they did not arrive until after the Grant Parish outrage alleged had taken place. The telegram also says that later advices indicate the outrage as a fabrication.

TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 4.—At a meeting of the citizens last night, a resolution was unanimously adopted that ex-acting Mayor Paul A. Cicilia be prosecuted in Court for imposition on widows and orphans.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Bloody Shooting Affray—Held to Answer—More Marine Cruelty—Sticks, etc.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—A shooting affray occurred to-night at the corner of Union and Battery streets, in which John Donald was shot and dangerously wounded, by Barney McArravy. The latter was soon after arrested. He claims that Donald seduced his sister. The parties met to-night and quarrelled, when McArravy drew a small Sharp's pistol and fired two shots, the last one struck Donald in the face and ranged inwardly and under the nose. Donald was taken to St. Mary's hospital.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Barney Free, alias Flynn, was held to answer the charge of having murdered Ed. Allen last Saturday night. Eight witnesses testified to his presence in the saloon just prior to the murder. An important witness, Robert Montgomery, the husband of Mary Montgomery, who was sent for two years to San Quentin for murder, testified that the defendant Free came on board the steamer McDonald, last Sunday morning, and asked for some coffee and said, "Have you heard of Ed. Allen's death?" He then pulled out a stiletto and said, "This is what fixed the son of a b—h." He had blood on his coat and shirt-cuffs. The defense hope to prove an alibi, but Judge Tyler, his counsel, gives up the case as almost hopeless, the circumstances being stronger than in the Devine alias Chickens' case.

Captain R. N. Phillips, of the ship Topgallant, recently from New York, was tried in the United States District Court to-day, on a charge of withholding suitable food from his sailors, by reason of which they contracted scurvy. The court found from the evidence that the food was of a proper kind and quantity. The District Attorney withdrew from the case, and it was dismissed.

George H. Bradbury, President of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, is stopping at the Occidental Hotel.

Late Eastern advices inform us of the retirement of Jay Gould from active business life. He has resigned all the numerous offices of trust in different business matters, but, as far as can be learned, will be so far removed above want, that he will make a European tour. He is said to be financially ruined, but we suppose has saved a few millions from the wreck, on which he will continue to live economically.
